

Elizabeth Sheehy
Clerk Magistrate of the Middlesex County Juvenile Court

Elizabeth Sheehy currently serves as Clerk Magistrate of the Middlesex County Juvenile Court, where she is responsible for magisterial and administrative supervision of the Cambridge, Framingham, Lowell, and Waltham sites. Prior to joining the Trial Court, and after receiving her Juris Doctorate from Suffolk University Law School, Attorney Sheehy worked at Middlesex Community College supervising their Law Center and was employed at the Law Offices of Paul Sheehy. During her past 21 years with the Middlesex County Juvenile Court, Attorney Sheehy founded the MCJC Clerk's Office Internship Program. She also serves on the Court Operations Committee which is responsible for establishing all COVID-19 operational and safety protocols, the CRA Rules Committee, the Wallace W. Rules Implementation Committee, The Juvenile Court Strategic Plan Committee, and the Text Notification Implementation Pilot Committee.

Her community involvement includes volunteer work with the Salvation Army, Merrimack Valley Catholic Charities, Lowell Youth Girls Lacrosse, Special Olympics, and Middlesex Community College Paralegal Program Advisory Board. Attorney Sheehy was honored to be named Trial Court Employee of the Year by the Greater Lowell Bar Association this past spring. She resides in Lowell, Mass with her daughter Catherine who is a Freshman attending the University of Rhode Island.
